

Absolutely not!!!! look at what happened to radio. Extreme political beliefs are being broadcast around the clock. This is a very dangerous, under no circumstances should a monopoly of communications be allowed to control or be of extreme political bias by either the (Right or Left). This has already happened in radio and needs to be reversed. You really need to control or prevent programming content that centers on promoting a political agenda unless both parties are equally represented.